

Access to Research Results

To feed back to the academic community and the general public valuable fruits obtained from research supported by Grants-in-Aid while making a wide range of scientific information openly available, financial support is provided to hold symposia, entitled "Universities and Science", and other lecture meetings, to establish databases, and to produce and publish academic journals.

Furthermore, a summary of the results of each funded project is posted on the website of the National Institute of Informatics and can be accessed using its on-line search function (<http://webfront.nii.ac.jp/>)※, while hard copies of the research reports are available for perusal and copying at the National Diet Library.

※To use this function, one needs to first obtain a user ID.
