

4th intensive workshop in Tokyo

(August 4-7, 2013)

Event concept in full swing

Meeting with Mr. Shimomura,
Minister of Education, Culture, Sports,
Science and Technology

2011. 3. 11

Crown Prince and Princess invited to presentation on initiatives

Meeting the Crown Prince and Princess

Requesting cooperation from partners and companies

3rd school (March 26, 2013): Pupils' self-rating on "independence"

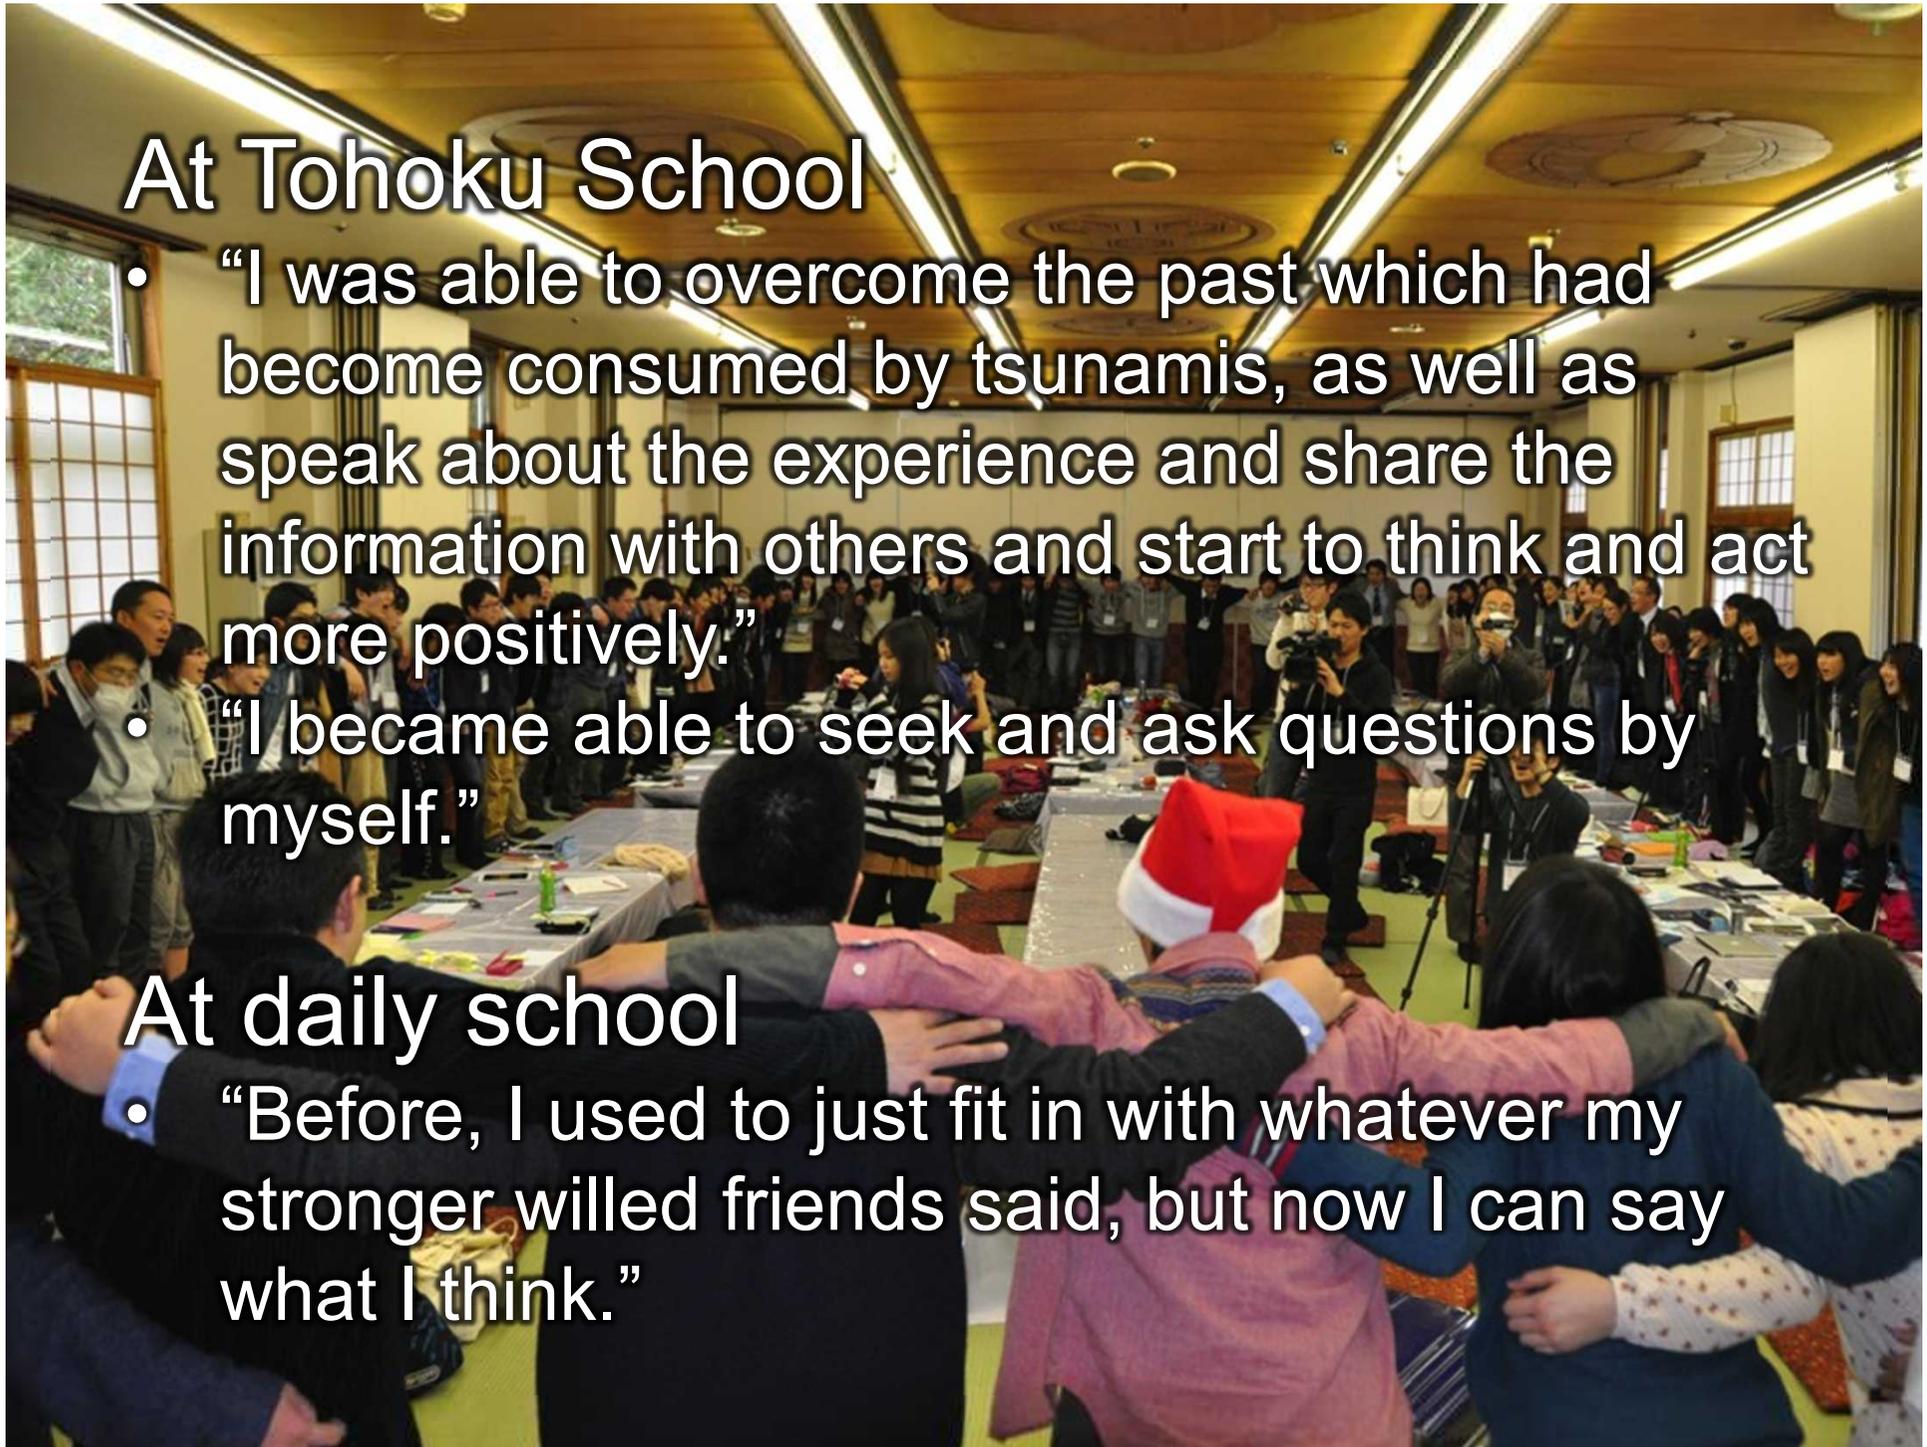

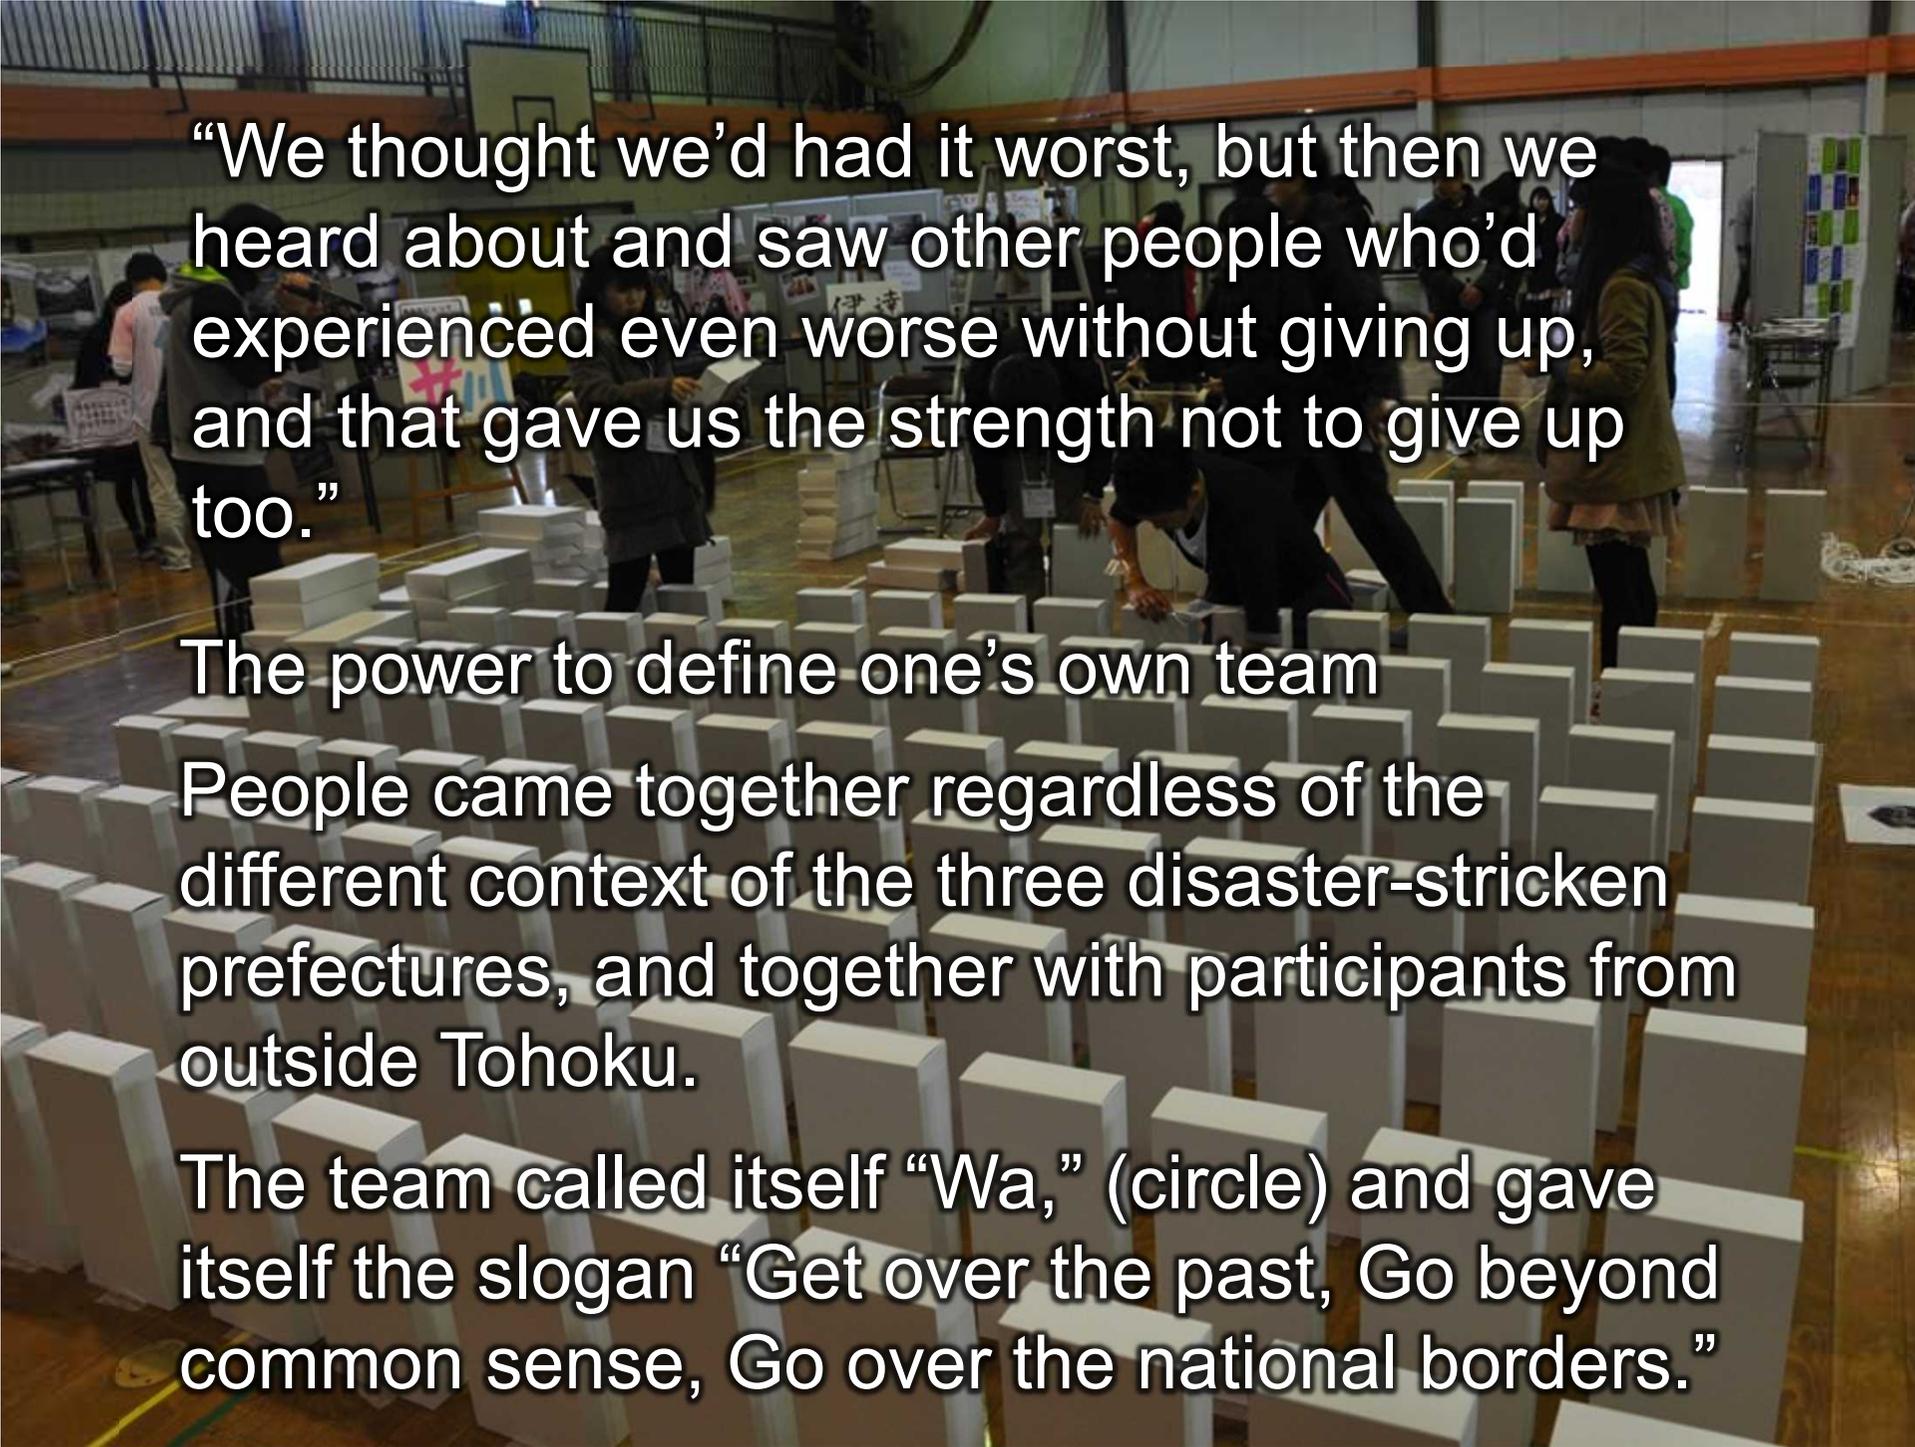

At Tohoku School

- “I was able to overcome the past which had become consumed by tsunamis, as well as speak about the experience and share the information with others and start to think and act more positively.”
- “I became able to seek and ask questions by myself.”

At daily school

- “Before, I used to just fit in with whatever my stronger willed friends said, but now I can say what I think.”

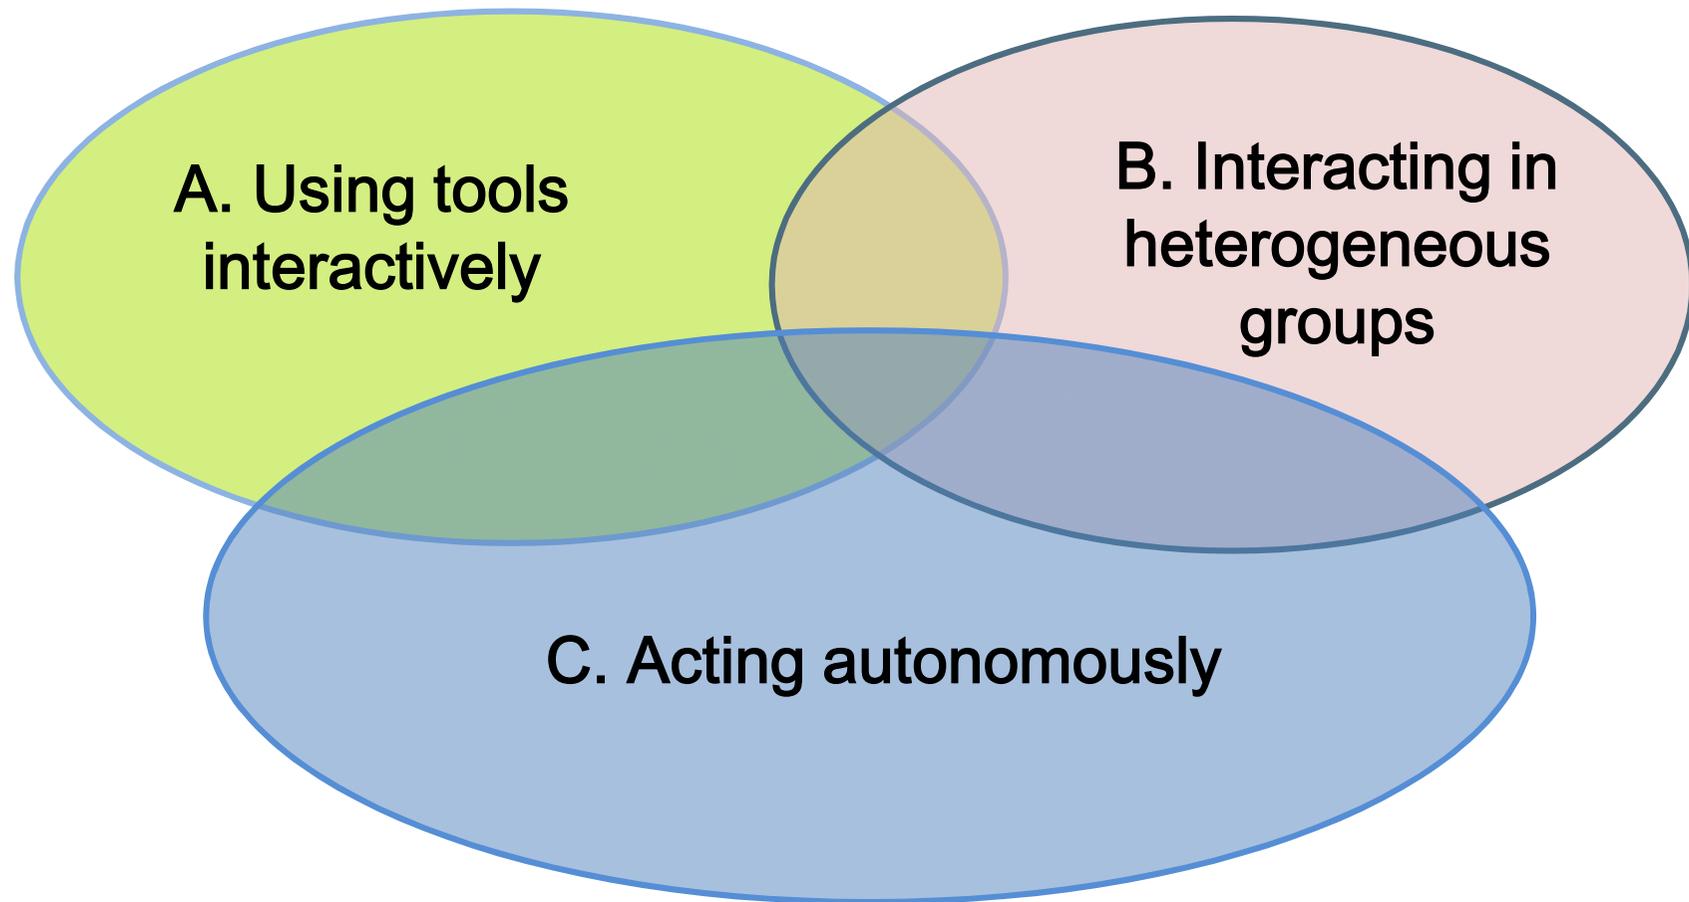

“We thought we’d had it worst, but then we heard about and saw other people who’d experienced even worse without giving up, and that gave us the strength not to give up too.”

The power to define one’s own team

People came together regardless of the different context of the three disaster-stricken prefectures, and together with participants from outside Tohoku.

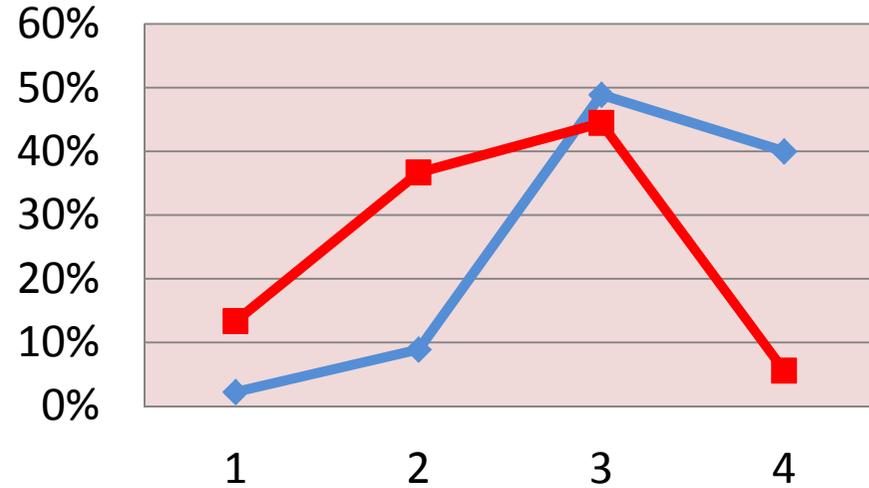

The team called itself “Wa,” (circle) and gave itself the slogan “Get over the past, Go beyond common sense, Go over the national borders.”

Durability and OECD key competencies

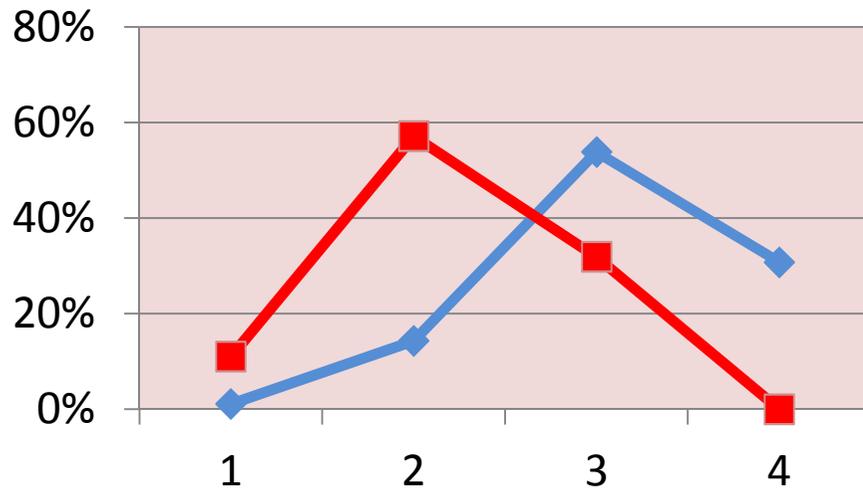

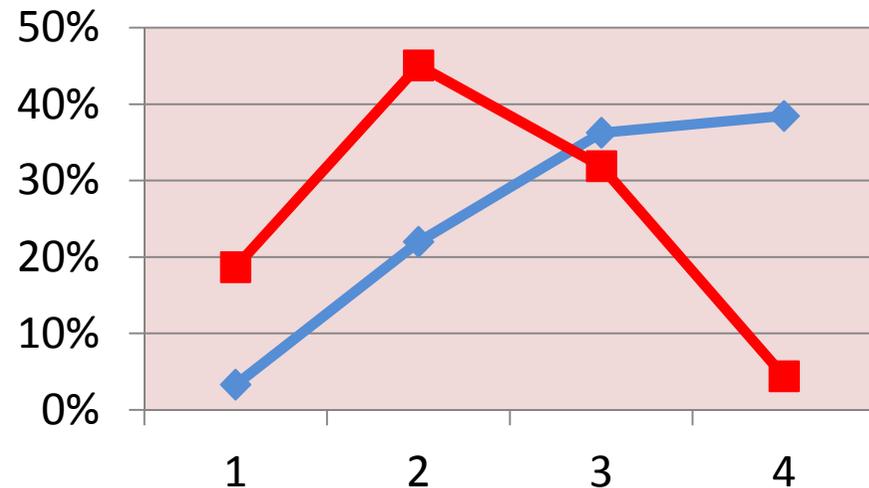

A1. Ability to master language (not limited to Japanese or a foreign language), symbols, text

A2. Capacity to master knowledge and information

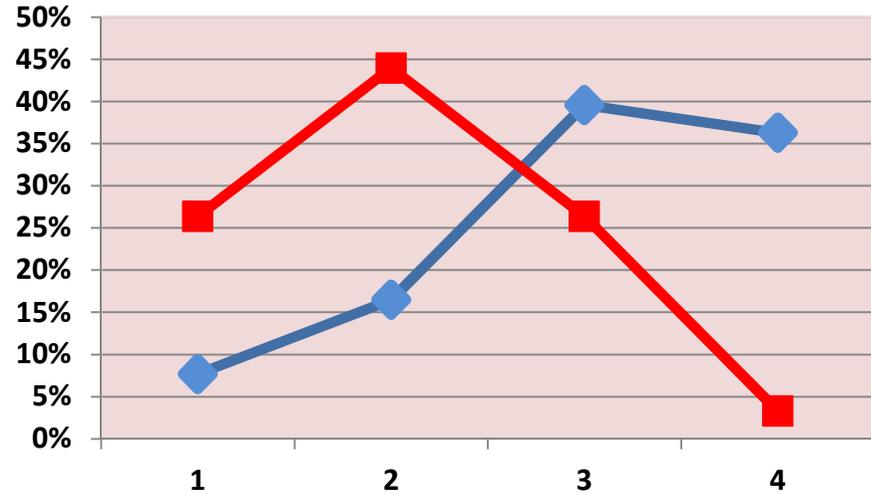

A3. Capacity to master technology (email, internet, etc.)

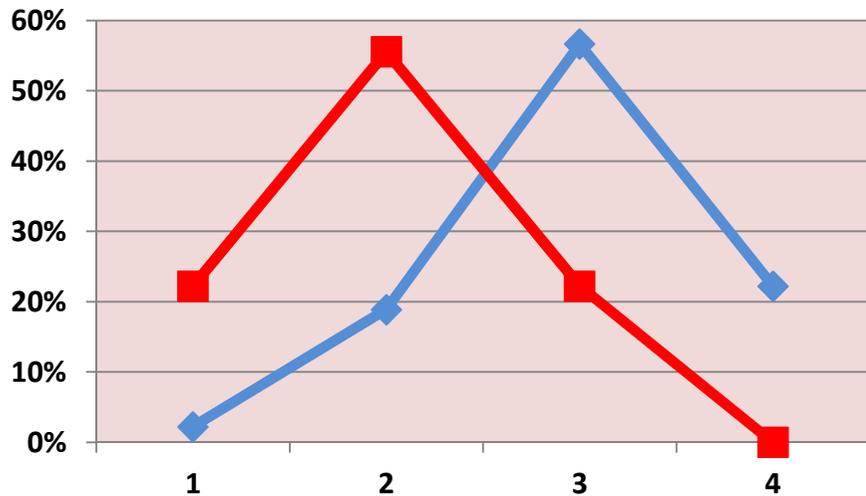

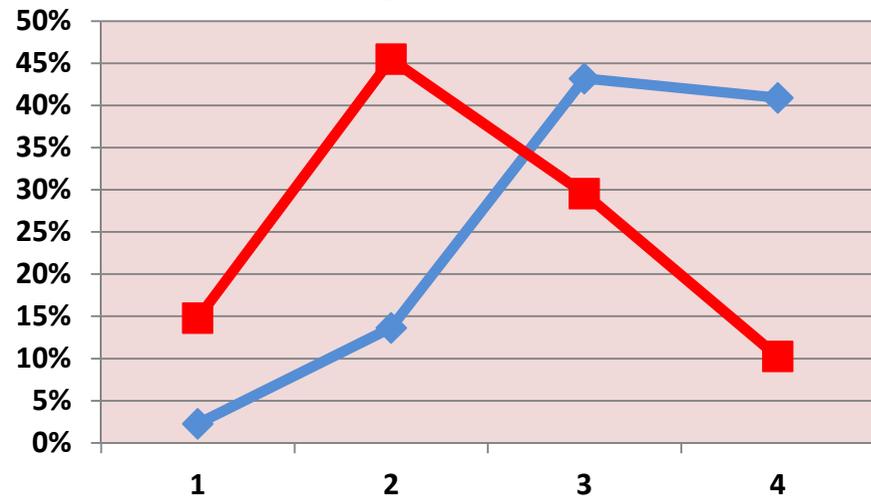

B1. Ability to build good relations with others

B2. Ability to cooperate and work as a team

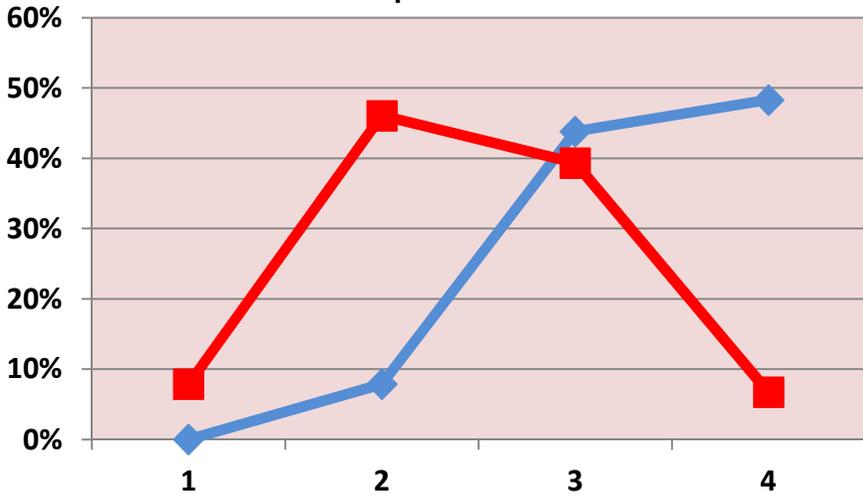

B3. Ability to handle and resolve conflicts of opinion, etc. with others

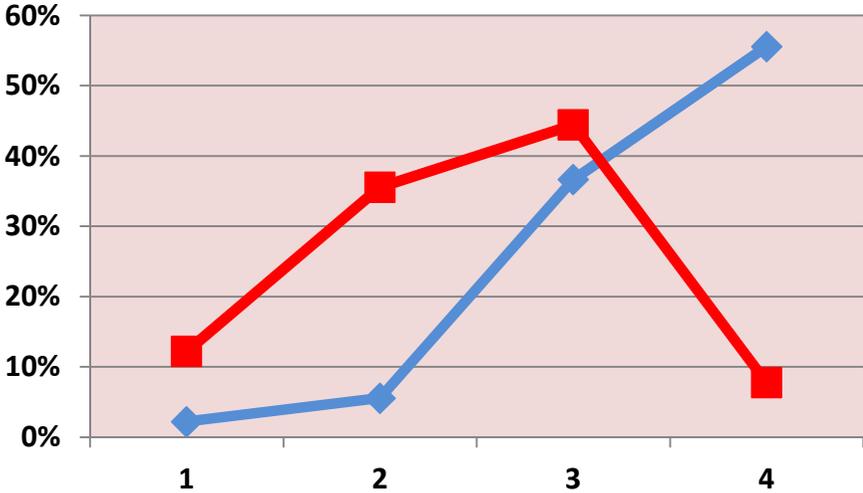

C1. Capacity to act within the big picture

C2. Ability to form and conduct one's own life plans and personal projects

C3. Ability to convey one's rights, interests, limits and needs to others

