

You and Lucas are e-mailing each other about the differences between American and Japanese schools.

あなたとルーカスはアメリカと日本の学校の違いについてメールをしています。

Hi! How's everything?

Today, let me tell you about my school. We don't have "kumi," and we students don't have our own classroom. Each teacher has their own room, and students go to their classrooms. This is the biggest difference between American and Japanese schools.

Our teachers are always kind to us. They often help me understand difficult things and prepare for tests. How about your school?

Write back soon!

Lucas

Check

Choose True or False about Lucas's school.

- (1) The teachers have their own classrooms. T / F
- (2) The teachers go to the students' classrooms. T / F

Talk

Which do you like, the American style or the Japanese style? And why?

Write

Write about your school to Lucas.

Hi Lucas,

How are you?